

VICTORIA JACOBSEN

Charlier Associates, Inc.

SUMMARY

Ms. Jacobsen is a senior transportation planner with experience in multimodal thoroughfares and systems. Place-making, complete streets and transit/station area planning have been the focus of Ms. Jacobsen's latest projects. A project manager since 2001, Ms. Jacobsen has worked for a variety of agencies, including the City of Lakewood, CO, the City of Fort Collins, CO, Teton County, WY and the Colorado Department of Transportation. Ms. Jacobsen has eight years of experience with projects that have a strong public engagement component. Central to her professional goals is improving the quality of public spaces, streets in particular, through planning, design and collaboration among the public and private sectors.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS

1997	Program Coordinator, CU Real Estate Center – Boulder, CO  Studied and contributed to real estate projects and issues along the Front Range, including impacts associated with the University's expansion
1998	Research Associate, Universität Bayreuth – Bayreuth, Germany  Conducted research with Professor Rolf Monheim on issues relating to pedestrian centers in European cities as well as bicycle and transit planning
1999	Research Associate, the Congress for New Urbanism & the Environmental Protection Agency  Developed the "Scorecard for Smart Development" - an incentive-based planning tool for communities looking to reduce the environmental impacts of (re)development
2000 –	Transportation Planner, Charlier Associates, Inc. – Boulder, CO  Creating multimodal plans for new or revitalizing downtown areas Developing criteria and support for complete streets

EDUCATION

B.S. Environmental Design,
University of Colorado, Boulder
1996

Master of Urban and Regional Planning, University of Colorado,
Denver, 2000

AFFILIATIONS

American Planning Association